International Problem Gambling and Gaming Certification Organization

Formerly known as International Gambling Counselor Certification Board - IGCCB

Certifications to Better Serve the Gambling and Gaming Support Community

LEARN MORE

The International Problem Gambling and Gaming Certification Organization was established in 1984 to offer voluntary international certifications. These certifications assure a body of qualified and competent professionals working with individuals with at-risk, problematic, and disordered gambling and their families/concerned others.

Certification standards established by the IPGGC represent the current best practices in the field of disordered gambling and gaming treatment.

As the field of gambling and gaming has evolved, so too has the need for specialized knowledge and skills. The IPGGC recognizes the importance of providing certifications that accurately reflect the diverse roles within this field. These certifications are designed to enhance clarity for both professionals and the public and strengthen the IPGGC's commitment to evidence-based responsible gambling practices.
